TOUR ITINERARY

Cape Krilon Jeep Expedition — 2-day camping tour to Sakhalin's southernmost point

2 days · 19 May 2025 — 1 Nov 2025

Two days, one camp night, and the end of Sakhalin. Cape Krilon sits at the island's southernmost tip above La Pérouse Strait — 42 kilometres of open water from Hokkaido. You reach it by 4×4 through the Krilon Peninsula forest and across a tide-timed beach section. Camp is pitched by the 1896 lighthouse; the morning light here earns the drive. Small group, all meals, full campin

Day-by-day programme

Day 1 Departure from Yuzhno-Sakhalinsk

Tour begins. Departure from Yuzhno-Sakhalinsk in a prepared 4x4. En route — the sights of Nevelsk, Cape Vindis, Cape Kuznetsov (sea stacks, a lighthouse with a Japanese-built meteorological complex, Kamoi Bay), Cape Zamiraylova Golova (arches, sea stacks, rock formations), and an abrasive shoreline with a chain of waterfalls.

Overnight: at the Kordon base. Meals: packed lunch and a hot meal at the base.

Day 2 Cape Krillon. Return

Departure for Cape Krillon. A tour of the working Pacific Fleet lighthouse (1896), the old Russian signal cannon and the red Japanese-brick buildings. Within the cape area lie the remains of a Soviet fortified district (pillboxes, underground passages) and the mass grave of paratroopers who fell during the liberation of Sakhalin. Return to Yuzhno-Sakhalinsk.
